

Things I liked:

I liked your amicable introduction and I think it does a good job of highlighting your hiking experience to site visitors

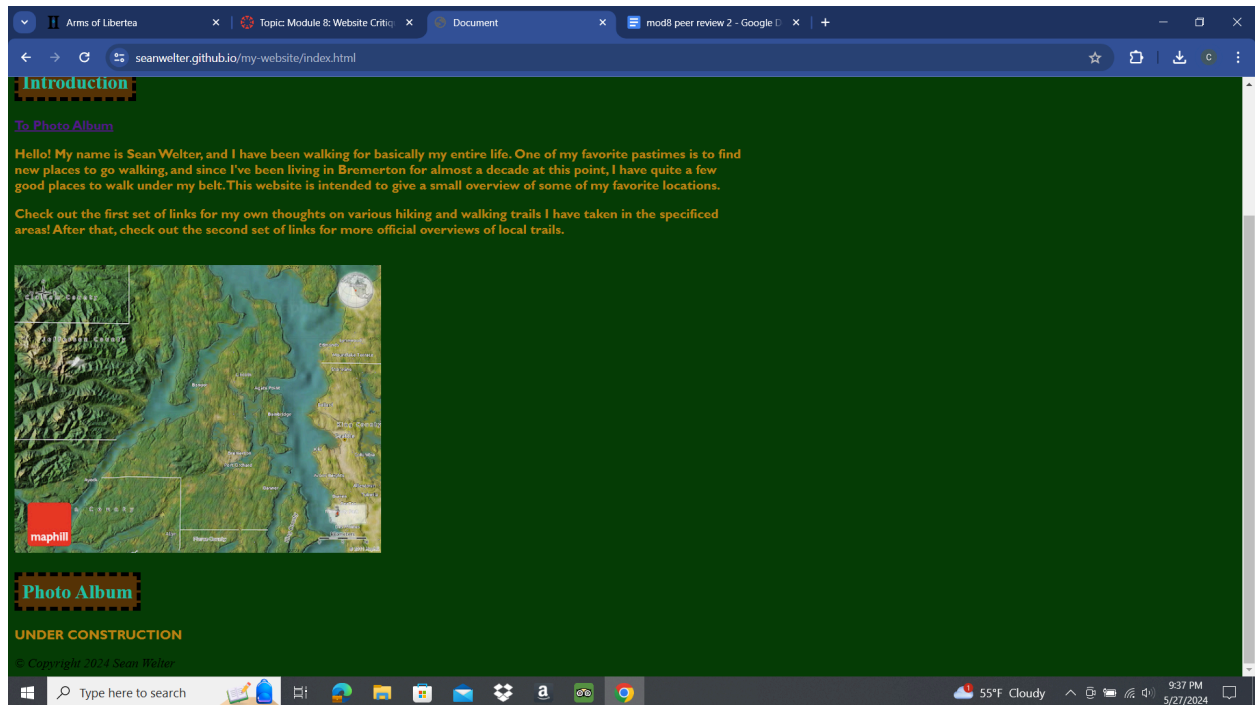

A map overview is a good idea to help orient viewers and give some perspective to the areas you are talking about

Things that could use improvements:

I think the black text on the dark green background in the locations pages is a little hard to read and could use more contrast

I think the image of the map could be larger or higher resolution as its hard to make out many of the location names

This might be a nitpick but the location name for each location page is pretty far to the left so it feels like my eyes do an unnecessary amount of traveling. Maybe try centering it or moving it a little further right so it's more aligned with the other things on the page.
